

Trial Balance and Adjustments

The trial balance is a summary of all ledger accounts and their balances. Adjustments are made for items like depreciation, accrued expenses, and prepaid income to ensure the financial statements accurately reflect the company's financial situation.