

Depreciation and Amortization

Depreciation refers to the reduction in the value of tangible assets over time, while amortization is the gradual write-off of intangible assets like patents. These expenses are recorded in the financial statements.