

Chemical Bonding

Chemical bonding involves the joining of atoms to form molecules or compounds. The main types of bonds are ionic (transfer of electrons), covalent (sharing of electrons), and metallic bonds (free electrons among metals).